Geocaching is an adventure game for new and experienced GPS users. The Jasper County Conservation Board and various other players have set up caches, or treasures, along the Chichaqua Valley Trail with associated GPS locations. GPS users can then use the location coordinates to find the caches. Once found, a cache will provide the visitor with a prize. All the visitor is asked to do is if they take something out of the cache, they should try to leave something in the cache for the next cache hunter!
